Albert Dillen accompanied by his sister, Mrs. M. Leiverman, arrived in Tonopah this morning from Detroit, Mich., to meet their brother, George Dillen, who is held in the county jail with his wife, Grace Dillen, upon the charge of first degree murder in causing the death of Wallace Williams, whose body was found near the old Frazier well on October 1 last. The brother and sister are here to render whatever assistance they can to their relative in his trouble, and following their arrival they paid a visit to him at the county jail in company with Joseph T. Tonopah Extension Takes Lead for the First Half Month of November

The Tonopah Extension took the lead from a production standpoint for the first half of November, the output amounting to $94,000 as against $76,500 for the last half of October. Tonopah Belmont Development Company stood second with $85,000, while West End came third with $67,114.

The Tonopah Extension gives promise of maintaining the lead for a long period and plans are under way where the tonnage treated at the mill will be increased from 400 to 500 tons daily. A remarkable ore showing is in evidence on the lower levels of the Victor shaft and a substantial net earning is resulting for the treasury.

Production from the four milling plants of the Tonopah district for the fifteen-day period ending November 15, as well as from the White Caps mill at Manhattan, follows:

Tonopah Ex. $ 94,000

Belmont 85,000

West End 67,114

Tonopah Mining 55,000

Total $301,114

White Caps $ 12,000

Grand Total $313,114

WILLIE CROWELL IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Willie Crowell, aged 9 years, and a pupil in the public schools, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg just above the knee at 11 o'clock this morning. The boy was wrestling with a playmate when his friend fell on him with great force and the bone was shattered in four places. The injured lad was rushed to the Mine Operators hospital and Drs. Craig and Giffey summoned. While it is not fully determined it is believed that the fracture can be reduced here and that it will not be necessary to take the boy to the coast for treatment.

The boy is a son of Mrs. J. H. Crowell, who resides with her five children on South street. One child, aged five years, only recently was discharged from the hospital where she underwent treatment for a broken arm. Another girl aged seven years, is just now recovering her vision which was threatened with total loss, but San Francisco specialists were successful in saving the sight.

The accident to Willie this morning took place during the recess hour and it is the custom among the boys to pair off and conduct wrestling matches.

The negro then dragged the girl into the brush where he kept her three hours and then threw her over the cliff. The negro escaped in Skipworth's automobile, heading toward Dallas, the officers said.

GREAT ENERGY

MANY WORKINGS

Report Shows That Mill is a Great Success and That Large Work in Order

The following interesting report has just been issued by the Simon Silver-Lead Mines Company, and is worthy of consideration:

To find what might be a mine is an easy matter; the hills of the West are dotted with location monuments; volumes of government records are required to file notices of location and assessment work done. But to make a mine, a real mine, is another matter. It requires more ability, more energy, more courage than is at the command of the average finder of mines—the doughty prospector of history and romance. A mine is made, not found. During the development period which carries it from a prospect to a mine, the management must bend every effort, must use every atom of physical and mental ability at its command. It must work unceasingly, untiringly and must not lose the courage and faith that originally prompted its efforts. The first doubt as to the success of the venture on which it is bending its energy sets it back just one notch on the cog wheel of success. A real mine management, working and striving for the success of the venture on which it has set forth, has no doubt. It is making a mine. It is adding its mite to the mining history of the West. During this period of development, stockholders, as individuals, are apt to be overlooked. The management considering them as a concrete unit, is grateful for the help they have given and for the faith displayed in the mine; but until the mine is made and there is something real to report, reports to stockholders are seldom made.

The mine of the Simon Silver-Lead Mines Company has been passing through just such a period. It has been a prospect. Today, it is a mine—a real mine; one that will make mining history in the years to come; its problems solved, its difficulties a thing of the past. Its management looks with pride on that which it has achieved. It has no regrets, no apologies for that which it has done.

GREAT FIGHT
RAIL CONTROL
HAS STARTED

Half Dozen Western States and Score of Communities Are Watching Proceedings

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—Half a dozen western states, scores of communities, traffic associations on the Pacific coast and in the Rocky mountain territory took a hand in the proceedings before the interstate commerce commission by which the Southern Pacific hopes to retain control of the Central Pacific despite the dissolution order of the supreme court.

Fred H. Wood, counsel for the Espee, made no objection to a swarm of intervention requests until the California producers and shippers associations were announced. "I'll not object at this point but in point of fact this so-called association is nothing more than the Union Pacific railway operating under an alias and that alias is resorted to for the usual purpose that people use aliases. At the proper time I'll move to strike its petition off and participation from this record," he declared.

GREAT DIVIDE
MINE IS MAKING A BIG EARNING

Production for October Shows Heavy Increase from Tonage Standpoint

Production of the Tonopah Divide mine in October was 1432 tons, average $26.92 per ton, which yielded $38,536.48 after deducting metallurgical loss and costs of milling. Shipments were increased the first half of November to 60 tons per day.

The 1400-foot level looks very promising. The flow of water has increased to about 1000 gallons per hour indicating that the vein is near, and most any round may break into the fissure. The increase in water will slow down the work as it will necessitate running the boiler for longer periods of time. The heat also makes progress slow in this crosscut.

Conditions at this depth seem to assure sufficient water for the operation of a mill, which was one of the objects sought in sinking the shaft, and as the company has ample funds in its treasury to build a mill, it is expected that the matter will receive early consideration.

MANY DEAD BODIES LAY IN MUD FLATS

MEXICALI, Nov. 21.—Many dead bodies were seen lying in the mud flats left by the receding tide by Governor Lugo of the northern district of Lower California, he reported upon his return from an airplane observation trip to Port Labomba, on the Gulf of California, where the steamer Topolobampo capsized on Sunday. APPEARS BEFORE BOTH HOUSES OF U. S. CONGRESS

Says Measure Will Relieve the Present Staggering Losses Of War Operation

MONETARY SAVING ASSURED

Challenges Intimation That Favored Interests Would Profit by Passage of Law

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—The enactment of the administration merchant marine bill was urged upon congress today by President Harding as necessary to relieve the government of the present "staggering losses" in the operation of the war-built merchant fleet and to establish a program of assured shipping to serve the nation in war and guarantee of commercial independence in time of peace.

Personally addressing the joint session of the house and senate, the chief executive declared an actual monetary saving to the government would result from the proposed law. He challenged every intimation of favored interests and enjoining a special law at the expense of the public treasury. Legislation, he asserted, automatically guaranteed against the enactment of a perpetual bestial. "If anyone attends, as we hope it will," he added, "the government outlay is returned, an inspiration to citizens remains and American transportation by sea is maintained."

The president said that concern about the American merchant marine policy was not limited to our adding maritime nations of the world and were in complete accord with opposition here to the pending bill.

President Harding declared these nations had a perfect right to such an attitude but that he wished to stress the American viewpoint, which he said should be the viewpoint "from which one who sees American carriers at sea, dependence of American commerce and American vessels for American reliance in the event of war."
